Editors of the Memphis Appeal: As you have been unusally exempt thi season from the watering place correspond-ent, and Memphis is liberally represented at this charming mountain resort, and the sea-son drawing to a close, I will essay a small experiment in that direction. The names of the many Memphians sojourning here have appeared in the APPEAL, and a better pleased party I have never seen. The spirit of cheer-fulness, and a desire to contribute to the pleasure of others, seems to animate every one. In addition to the cool, dry, bracing air, there is near fine chalybeate water, which is supplied at the hotel, and by many highly prized. The proprietors are public spirited, progressive and solicitous for the comfort and pleasure of their guests. The manager, Mr. Weir, is especially attentive and thoughtful, and will be most kindly remembered by all Memphians, and certainly by the widows and

An Indian Agent's Account. A report has been received at the Interior Department from United States Indian-Agent Llewellyn at Mescalero Agency, New Mexico, relative to the recent depredations committed by a party of Mescalero Apache Indians now on the war path. Concerning the cause of this outbreak, Agent Llewellyn writes under date of July 28th: "It seems some few months ago a Lieuteuant of the United States Army then stationed here gave a written permit to three Indians at this Agency to go into written permit to three at this Agency to go nountains thirty miles from the agency to the south. Since that time they have made, according to the statement of Packer's scouts, three ineffectual efforts to get into the agency, being prevented each time by scouts and soldiers. Finding they could not return to the agency, as they had been led to believe they could, they concluded to go on the war path. I learn on good authority that there are about seventy Indians in the party. The Indians here feel hadly that their friends could not be permitted to return, but all unite in telling me they will remain quiet and show the Great Father that their hearts are good. the south. The President's Peril. SENATOBIA, MISS.

The President's Peril.

There has been the greatest excitement here to-day about the President since the day he was shot. Business was almost entirely suspended and people were running everywhere hunting for the latest news. The White House was filled up and throngs pressed about the gates. The excitement was started with the morning bulletin, which was thought to be the largest political Considered unfavorable. The mid-day bulletin, instead of reassuring the people, in wanted to find out what the surgeons thought of the case and what hopes they had, but this was dominated by a very large majority. The delegates to the State Convention are as follows: C. A. Grayson, Jesse F. Heard, W. B. Wright and J. B. Robinson, colored. The nominees for county officers are: For the Legislature, J. V. Walker and J. P. Powell, the latter colored; Charles A. Grayson, Sheriff; Hudson Wilson, colored, Assessor; Jesse N. Heard, Treasurer; Thomas H. Butler, colored to the called definite. Those who had access to the rooms near the President and to the doctors would say but

President and to the doctors would say but little. Colonel Corbin said the situation was critical. Attorney-General McVeagh told Senator (Pugh, of Alabama, to-night, that it was useless to disguise the fact that the case was as grave as could be. Ex-Sheriff Doggett, of Brook-lyn, who has access to the personal atten-dants of the President, said it was as bad abad could be. All this seemed to increase the feeling of alarm but gave no satisfaction as to the state of the case. It was plain all day that the surgeons were alarmed. There was no concealing that fact. Various rumors were affoat and could be heard at every turn.

DR. BLISS INTERVIEWED. About 9 o'clock the Western Associated Press Agent got to see Dr. Bliss. He said he was in a burry to get back to see the President, but would take time to say that this was a most critical turn of the President's malady. He said it was a complication that was not looked for. "Last night," said Dr. Bliss, "the President's stomach went back on him entirely; refused to perform any of its functions. The surgeons at once besufferer with dyspepsia for several years. We knew that, and therefore we handled the stomach gently. We administered just such nourishment as could best be assimilated. If his stomach resumes its functions be will mend right along; there is no other trouble."

At 10 o'clock there was an enormous crowd at the White House, and the grounds were crowded. Everybody was seeking news, but the surgeons were inaccessible. The Agent of the Associated Press sent a note to Dr. Bliss asking if there was anything later since his interview with him. He wrote the following note in reply: "The President is sleeping without anodynes. Pulse less by 10 beats since the evening bulletin. His tem-perature is not above 96 6-10; respiration, 20.
